Stinger Medical Selected as the Winner of the 2006 Excellence in Manufacturing Awards

(Murfreesboro, Tennessee. January 27, 2006) Stinger Medical, provider of mobile solutions and medical technologies, is the winner of the 2006 Excellence in Manufacturing Awards small manufacturer division. Companies participating in the awards were judged on several criteria focusing on the manufacturing practices, product development, quality processes, advances in technology, financial growth and overall operational excellence.

The 2006 Excellence in Manufacturing Awards were presented by the Nashville Business Journal, the Nashville Chamber of Commerce, Lattimore Black Morgan & Cain and Wachovia.

“We are honored to have been selected as the winner in our division of the 2006 Excellence in Manufacturing Awards,” says Gary Coonan, founder and CEO of Stinger Medical. “Stinger Medical was founded on the core values of integrity, excellence, dedication and humility; it is these values that drive all aspects of our business and our success.”

Stinger Medical employs manufacturing techniques that maximize production flexibility which increases the ability to provide fully customized mobile solutions and medical technologies to the healthcare marketplace. Stinger Medical offers the Levitator™, Fusion™ and Slimline™ mobile workstations as well as the integriti® automated vital signs acquisition technology.

The awards were presented at a dinner held January 26th at the Hilton Hotel in Nashville, Tennessee.
